

technology intelligence summit 2024

As organizations continue to accelerate their adoption of public cloud and SaaS, they run more, and more expensive software in increasingly hybrid environments.

ITAM teams are focusing more on a broader view of licensing models and constraints, and how best to leverage existing licensing entitlements to optimize software license costs in the cloud. And FinOps teams, well-versed in optimizing cloud costs, are taking software running in the cloud in their purview.

Flexera's Technology Intelligence Summit helps lift the silos of knowledge between the on-premise and cloud and SaaS experts and brings industry leaders together to discuss future needs and the potential to optimize the value of technology.
